

Press release: Tyre particles are contaminating our rivers and ocean, study says

New report reveals tyres are a major source of microplastics found in the marine environment.