

Prime Minister to bring together leaders across public life to drive whole of society response to antisemitism

Leaders from across society are being brought together in Downing Street this morning to drive forward progress on tackling antisemitism in all its forms.