

Prime Minister to warn that Europe must move away from overdependence on the US, to interdependence – and a more European NATO

Europe must shift from overdependence on the United States and towards a more European NATO, underpinned by deeper links between the UK and the EU, the Prime Minister will say today.