

Prime Minister unveils reforms to transform further and higher education

Young people across the country will gain the skills needed to thrive in tomorrow's job market, as the Prime Minister today announced a package of reforms.