

Prioritising technology investments for policing

A national model collating when technology needs updating or will become obsolete enables the National Police Chiefs' Council to make crucial funding decisions.