

Prison building boom to make streets safer

A prison building boom is underway across the country as the Government presses ahead with the biggest jail expansion programme since the Victorian era.