

Refunds still available for 4,000 people who didn't submit their debt relief order application

People who started a debt relief order application before April 2024 but did not complete the process are being offered refunds for any fees paid