

Research: Risk assessment: chronic wasting disease to Great Britain from Scandinavia and North America

A qualitative risk assessment on the likelihood of chronic wasting disease incursion into Great Britain from Scandinavia and North America, and the potential for subsequent transmission among susceptible animal populations.