

Research: Severe mental illness: inequalities in cancer screening uptake

Comparing the uptake of NHS bowel, breast and cervical cancer screening services between people with and without severe mental illness.