

Reynolds: Farm tech supercharged to boost profitability

Environment Secretary to announce £345 million to fund innovation, new technology and infrastructure to boost farm productivity and support the conditions for more affordable food over time