

Scottish Secretary: Scotland must not miss out on nuclear opportunities

Scotland is becoming globally isolated on nuclear power – missing out on much needed skilled jobs and economic growth – because of the Scottish Government's ideological stance on nuclear power.