

Scottish space companies pioneer next-generation satellite communications with SpaceX launch

Three new satellites built in Scotland launched aboard SpaceX's Transporter-16 mission, marking a significant step forward for UK leadership in laser communications, spacecraft manufacturing, and the operation of satellite c...