

Securing a sustainable water future for the South East

Environment Secretary Steve Reed visited Havant Thicket reservoir, which will help future-proof water supply in the South East.