

Sellafield powers forward with more resilient electricity supply

An important project to ensure the Sellafield site has a more resilient electricity supply has taken a significant step forward.