

Sentence tripled for former police officer

A police officer who continued an inappropriate relationship with a vulnerable girl he met on duty over several years has had his sentence increased.