

Serious concerns over use of £22 million triggers investigation by charity regulator

The Charity Commission has launched a statutory class inquiry into several charities and issued orders to temporarily restrict the issuing of cheques.