

Simpler, faster planning appeals are coming

From 1 April most planning applications made to local planning authorities will follow a new route if they are appealed and decided via written representations