

Single Construction Regulator to ensure standards across sector

Plans for a new regulator to bring together standards across buildings, products and professionals in the construction sector have been announced today.