

Sir John Oldham appointed to help make NHS fit for the future

Sir John Oldham is a GP by background and has very significant experience in the sphere of primary care, change management, and leading improvement programmes