

Social housing fraud to be tackled under industry-first government partnership with Airbnb

People illegally subletting social housing will be identified and may be removed from the property, following a new, innovative data-sharing partnership between the Cabinet Office and Airbnb.