

South Yorkshire kicks off £125 million plans to get Britain back to health and work

Liz Kendall visits Barnsley to unveil first of nine 'trailblazers' which will get people back to health and back to work, supported by £18m of £125m investment