

Speech: All the talents: policy needs social science and humanities' input

From the war on Ebola to climate change strategy, research in a wide range of disciplines is proving invaluable.