

Strengthening cross-government working for animals in science

The Animals in Science Committee have updated their ways of working to better enable delivery of government commitments.