

Stronger standards and training to improve building safety

The government has published updates for a more consistent and accountable building safety system, acting on the recommendations in the Grenfell Tower Inquiry.