

Student skills investment to boost UK defence industry

Britain's defence industry will benefit from an £80 million skills boost to increase places on key strategically-relevant courses.