

Targeted support for North East clean energy project to create thousands of jobs and power Britain's green future

A single Lead Environmental Regulator will make decision-making easier for the Port of Tyne's Clean Energy Park, unleashing growth across the North East and strengthening energy security