

Tech firms to prevent unwanted nudes under tougher laws to protect women and girls online

People will be better protected from seeing unwanted sexual images via social media under toughened laws announced today.