

Tech giants join government to kick off plans to boost British worker AI skills

Leading tech firms have partnered with government to deliver AI skills training to 7.5 million UK workers.