

The Challenge of Regulation in an Age of Advanced Automation

How much can a regulator understand the autonomous safety systems that transcend traditional levels of automation and what level of assurance can be provided?