

Thousands of seafarers across the Channel set for better pay and protections under new government proposals

The new laws will extend and strengthen seafarer protections beyond UK territorial waters.