On Armed Forces Day, Scottish Conservative MP Andrew Bowie has put on record his thanks to the brave men and women of the armed forces community.

Mr Bowie, the MP for West Aberdeenshire and Kincardine, has made special mention of the incredible efforts of the armed forces during the Covid crisis.

From mobile testing units, to evacuating seriously ill Covid sufferers, the British Army has stepped in and stepped up to help at this time of national crisis.

Andrew Bowie, Scottish Conservative MP said:

“Our armed forces continue to step in and step up to any crisis we, as a nation, face.

“I would like to put on record my sincerest thanks to everyone in the armed forces family, including veterans and their families, soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen; full time and reserve.

“The Covid pandemic has highlighted, once again, our armed force’s quiet dedication and humanity.

“These dedicated men and women are the best of us.

“Armed Forces Day is a chance for all of us to pause and appreciate all they have achieved and all they have sacrificed. And to say thank you.”
