

Top British AI expertise to help spark renewal of public services and bolster national security

Government sets out key part of its digital transformation agenda, bringing world class talent into Whitehall to modernise essential services.