

Topical hormone treatments: pet owners warned of risks to pets from accidental exposure

Topical hormone products such as gels and creams can be absorbed accidentally by pets through close contact.