

Transforming Blenheim Estate's low-grade farmland into woodlands for nature and communities

Blenheim Estate planted 270,000 trees to improve biodiversity, water quality and public access, as well as generate income through timber production.