

UK AI sector attracts £200 million a day in private investment since July

An average of £200 million in private sector investment has been funnelled into the UK's world leading AI sector every day since last summer.