

UK aid has reduced greenhouse gas emissions by 16 million tonnes, new figures show

UK aid has helped millions of the world's poorest people access clean energy and prepare for the impact of climate change in the last eight years.