

UK and Central America sign continuity agreement

The UK government has today signed a trade and political continuity agreement with Central America.