

UK and Norway kickstart new defence agreement in boost for European security

UK continues to step up on European security in move to deepen defence ties with Norway