

UK and partners strengthen climate resilience and conservation in Guatemala

The UK and local partners have completed a project to protect nature and support communities in western Guatemala.