

UK and Poland set to sign major defence and security treaty as PM steps up relationship with Europe to keep nation safe

The UK is set to sign a new defence and security treaty with Poland to protect British borders, tackle organised crime, bolster collective defences and deepen cooperation with the European Union.