

UK announces £50m new support for vulnerable Syrians

UK announces £50 million package of international aid to help the most vulnerable Syrians, including refugees across the region.