

UK beef hits US shelves tariff-free for the first time – cutting costs for UK businesses

First tariff-free shipment of UK beef arrives in the US, as government works in partnership with the food and farming industries to save millions in export fees and grow the UK economy