

UK “building the factories of the future” as government launches next phase of new munitions and energetics factories

Multiple sites across the UK for new factories to make munitions and military explosives to boost the UK's warfighting readiness have been identified as the government moves to the next phase of building the factories of the...