

UK candidates make it through to next round of European Space Agency's astronaut call

The latest figures from the European Space Agency (ESA) show more than 160 applicants from the UK have made it through to the next round of their astronaut call.