

UK creates first envoy role to support British nationals detained abroad

Former Foreign Office Minister Alistair Burt will support British nationals in the most difficult and complex cases.