

Stanley Arts: The ‘Eccentric’ Architecture of Inventor William Stanley

Stanley Halls was built in 1903. Today, it is home to one of South London’s premier arts and performance venues.

The Discovery of the Rooswijk Shipwreck

The wreck of the Rooswijk, which sunk in 1740, was discovered off the Kent coast in 2005.

Do You Know Your Gloriette From Your Grotto?

These images will help you navigate through features found in historic gardens and landscapes.

Halifax Stars: The Boxing Clubs of West Yorkshire

Discover the story of these northern English boxing clubs rooted in working-class community life.

6 Inspirational Women Engineers from History

These pioneering women led the way in making engineering a career choice for all women.