

UK Government funds mental health support to help steelworkers

£3.27 million to boost mental health provision in the local community and help steelworkers into work.