

UK pledges up to £160 million to support Syria's recovery and stability in post-Assad era

The UK government has pledged up to £160 million in aid to help stabilise Syria following the fall of the Assad regime.