

UK project will improve livelihoods and climate resilience of communities in Alta Verapaz and the dry corridor

A three-year project will provide tools for families in climate sensitive areas to better plan the management of their landscapes and improve well-being of indigenous and ladino communities.