

UK recognises positive development through European Long Range Strike Approach

Cooperation with our NATO partners on the development of enhanced strike capabilities within the Alliance is crucial to maintaining our collective security.